NUMB. 3012

THURSDAY, APRIL 18, 1745.

Rome, April 3.

L. L. the Pains his Holiness has hitherto taken, in order to reconcile the Christian Powers, have proved ineffectual; notwithstanding which, it is believed he will speedily send Briefs to their Christian and Catholick Majesties, the Queen of Hungary, and the Kings of Sardinia and Poland, in order to avoid the Effusion of Christian Blood, and adjust their respective Claims by a peaceable Negotiation. His Neapolitan Majesty seems to have given him here, to spend this Summer in his own Dominions, and to content himself with a Corps of Auxiliaries to the Army of the Emperor, together with a considerable Train of Artillery, by which that Prince has not only an Opportunity of settling all Things in his own Dominions, but also those Heats and Disputes about Command, which occasioned last Year such Disturbance in the Kingdom. The malecontent Spirit which has so long prevailed among his Subjects, prevails more than ever, notwithstanding all Severities lately practised to prevent the Pope has given Refuge to some Noblemen of the Kingdom who are retired hither; and, it is said, writes a Letter on their Behalf to the King of the Sicilies, in order to become a Mediator in their Behalf, presuming that they will justify themselves from this Charge of Disloyalty, to his Majesty's Satisfaction; and that the sole Cause of their flying from their Country is to avoid a tedious Imprisonment, and the fear of a legal Conviction.

April 3. Our Squadron is almost ready to sail, in order to cruise on the Corsairs of Barbary. There is in the Neighbourhood of Pisa a Body of 1000 Militia, for whom we are preparing Uniforms, which shall be converted into Regular Troops. We expect every Day that the State of Genoa will take off the Mask, and declare openly for the Spaniards. We are informed, they are getting together a great Number of Mules; and that the Forces they have so long raising, are almost ready to take the Field.

A Report prevails here, that the Spaniards will endeavour to open a Passage into the Duchy of Parma, where, at present, they have some Hopes, from the Murmurs among the People. We are extremely at a Loss to comprehend how the Spaniards can so many Convoys as they have done lately into the Country, without, or at least with very little Loss to the English. Two Catalan Barks put into our Port the 18th of last Month, and failed the next Day for Hercules. On the 30th no less than 52 Vessels of War (as we apprehend) arrived in the same Port with Troops and Ammunition. The Spanish Regiment that march'd from Orbitello to join the Army of Count de Gages, deserted for the most Part by Way. Many of these Deserters came hither, but could not find Entrance; and 200 went to Pisa.

April 7. The Austrian Army is actually retreating to the Panaro in excellent Order, and without Loss. His Sardinian Majesty's Baggage is at Quistello. His Sardinian Majesty ordered a Corps of his Troops to join Prince Lobkowitz, with which; and has assured his Highness, that he has good Grounds to be displeased with the Negotiation which has been shewn by the Ministry at Vienna, which has been shewn by the Ministry at Vienna, that the Army in Italy, yet he was determined to fail on nothing, but would execute his Treaties to the utmost, and with the greatest Punctuality. The Government sent by that Prince consists of six Battalions, and a Regiment of Horse, exclusive of the Austrian fine back, who served in his Armies last Year. Prince Lobkowitz, however, so well relish another Piece of good Hands; viz. that his Sardinian Majesty has sent the Count de la Roque to go to Paris, in order to represent the Most Christian King on the late Marriage of the Dauphin.

April 15. The Elector of Bavaria arriv'd in this City Yesterday, and alighted with Prince Cleme, who accompanied him, at the Palace of Fugger. The Foreign Ministers are many of them arriv'd, and are hourly expected. The Empress Dowager is not to be persuaded to leave Munich, where she remains with the Princesses her Daughters; not doubting, that she shall be treated by General Bathiani with the Respect due to her high Rank. The Duchess Dowager of Prince Ferdinand of Bavaria remains with the Imperial Majesty. We talk very confidently here of an Accommodation, the Terms of which are said to have been regulated between his Electoral Highness and the Count de Loos; who, for want of full Powers, could not sign it; which made the Conferences necessary that have been lately held between the Prince of Furstenburgh and the Count de Colledro, on the Frontiers of Tyrol. In the mean time, no Cessation of Arms can be granted, but the Austrian Troops continue advancing farther and farther. We expect, in a few Days, the Bavarian Army at Fridbergh which is in our Neighbourhood, but we can by no means guess at its Destination; the French, in the mean time, are assembling as fast as possible near Donawert.

Cologne, April 20. His Serene Highness, our Elector, being pressed for a categorical Answer as to the March of the Troops of Munster, has actually declared they shall not join the Army of the Allies under the Duke of Aremberg; but shall be employ'd for the Security of the Electorate of Hanover, pursuant to Treaty. His Highness has not hitherto thought fit to explain himself as to his Resolution in regard to the Vote of Bohemia, tho', at this Juncture, of the utmost Consequence to the Quiet of the Empire. The Day before Yesterday we sent two large Vessels laden with Provisions and Forage to the Army of the Allies; where, as we understood, both were much wanted. According to some Advices from Augsborg, there happened on the 12th Inst. in the Plains of Munich, a short, but very sharp Action, between the Austrian and Bavarian Forces, in which the former had the worst, and were obliged to retire towards Mosbourg. The same Letters say (which is very dark and unintelligible) that the Hessian Auxiliaries had Orders to separate from the Bavarian Army; and had accordingly, in Obedience to those Orders, immediately quitted it. Other Advices from the same Place, mention an Accommodation as concluded.

Dusseldorp, April 20. The Army of the Allies continues retiring towards Neuweid, where it is believed they propose to pass the Rhine; and the French apprehending this, have detach'd a considerable Corps on the other Side of that River, in order to distress and straiten them in their Quarters. Our Forces that were at Neuweid are all march'd to reinforce the Bavarian Army, except 500 Foot, and 100 Horse, under the Command of Col. Oftein. The Report we had of a Treaty between the Queen of Hungary and the Elector of Bavaria is not confirmed, in such a manner, as that it may be depended upon. Some Letters indeed say, that the Prince of Furstenburgh had been sent to confer with Count Colledro, and had afterwards returned to Munich. But others assure us, that this Prince, and Count Seckendorff, are gone back again to Count Colledro, in order to renew this Negotiation. There is yet a Letter from Augsborg from one of the Elector's Domesticks, in which it is positively asserted, that Count Colledro was come to Augsborg, had conferred several times with the Elector himself the Day after his Arrival in that City; and that it was believed a Convention would be signed that very Evening, viz. the 16th. But we have been so often deceiv'd, and the Reports from that Country are so various, that we resolve to suspend our Opinions till the Court receives a Courier from the Elector, and then we shall know what to think.

SCOTLAND.

Beaver, and the Happy Janet of Dunbar (an armed Vessel in the Government's Service, and which is to be station'd on this Coast, for protecting Trade) arriv'd in Leith Road from the Thames, and brought under Convoy the following Ships; viz. the Britannia, Pollock, the Edinburgh Merchant, Bowman, the Glasgow Packet, Smith, the Hope, Smith, the Katharine, Lawson, and the Betty and Mary, Adam; which are all safe arriv'd in Leith Harbour.
